

LOWER SCHOOL STANDARD CODE OF DRESS

2008-09 School Year

(Updated 5/21/08 ~ Changes in Red)

Carolina Day School places great importance on an orderly learning environment, and we believe that emphasis on the educational mission of our school is enhanced by reducing student focus and attention on dress and appearance. The goals of the Lower School Standard Code of Dress are to decrease the undue pressure students face to conform to media/fashion-influenced styles and peer-dictated standards of dress, and to make a visible statement about the inclusive culture of our school.

Lands' End is the primary vendor, but local vendor Read's Uniforms can be used for polos, pants, and shorts as well. It is located at 123 Sweeten Creek Road, Asheville. Please note that as of this fall, Read's will be the sole vendor for Carolina Day School sweatshirts and fleeces, rather than the school store. Other vendors are viable options for certain items, as stated below.

Only one plaid is acceptable: Hunter/classic navy plaid.

If you have any questions about whether or not your choices meet the Standard Code of Dress, please check with your division principal, especially before making large purchases.

Pre-kindergarten children: If your pre-kindergartner's size is too small to wear the specified items, we understand. Please buy clothing as similar to the specified items as possible.

No emblems or labels are allowed on clothing except the Carolina Day School logo, which is optional. Lands' End and Read's Uniforms provide this logo service.

PLEASE NOTE: Specific, updated details of the Standard Code of Dress are available on our website at all times. There also is a link there directly to Lands' End. As new catalogues are published, changes in page and item numbers will be noted on the website.

We have listed below specific page and item letters from the May 2008 Lands' End School catalogue. (The cover of this catalogue pictures three students, one boy and two girls.)

Example of a listing: "LE pg. 6-7 A, B" means that the Lands' End polos on pages 6 & 7, items A and B, are acceptable.
